

Join us in spreading the message that by giving of ourselves through organ and tissue donation we give the gift of life.

national donor sabbath

National Donor Sabbath is an interfaith celebration of the gifts of hope provided through organ and tissue donation and transplantation. It takes place every November, two weekends before Thanksgiving or whenever is convenient for your house of faith. Religious leaders across the nation will urge people to make faith-based decisions to become organ and tissue donors.

With a national list of more than 100,000 men, women and children waiting for the gift of life-enhancing tissue or organ transplants, it's time for all of us to participate in this educational celebration of life and hope.
